

The Nifty Thrifty...

extreme water-wise plants
for today's contemporary landscape

Throughout the past decade, there have been extreme periods of drought and record high temperatures. This unusual weather phenomenon has led many of us to rethink our plant palette to include plants that need very little to no water once established. This category of plants offers new challenges when it comes to troubleshooting, maintenance and design. Your clients will appreciate the lower water requirements of these “Nifty Thrifty” plants and how they remain fresh and beautiful all year long.
